

In Need of Trees

Vasilina Orlova

A lonely marble lion
Lies in front of the mansion,

With no lion that usually comes with the first,
Alone that is to say,
In the abysmal absence of the second lion,
A representative of the two of them,
Stretching lazily

Next to the marble pedestal,
Near the marble paw on the marble ball,
There should be a tree

Better
Several trees, in which several birds sit and tweet,

Or maybe no birds, no tweets, and no trees

(And no lions)

That's all the picture really needs.

[2014]

© 2017 THE WHEEL.
May be distributed for
noncommercial use.
www.wheeljournal.com